

Week 1 (18.10.2025)

niedziela, 26 października 2025 22:48

Lp.	Kategoria błędu	Przykład z konwersacji	Liczba wystąpień	Poprawione / Uwagi
1	Czasowniki / czasy	"I already contact" → "I have already contacted"	2	Present perfect vs past simple
2	Artykuły ("a", "the")	"Thanks for information" → "Thanks for the information"	3	Dodawać "the" / "a" tam, gdzie potrzebne
3	Przyimki	"in the Tuesday" → "by Tuesday"	3	Dopasować przyimek do kontekstu
4	Zgoda podmiot–orzeczenie	"They has any problems" → "They have any problems"	2	Sprawdzać liczbę podmiotu i czasownika
5	Konstrukcje pytające	"where he is?" → "where is he?"	2	Używać poprawnej kolejności słów
6	Podwójne przeczenia	"don't change nothing" → "don't change anything"	1	Zawsze używać pojedynczego przeczenia
7	Rzeczowniki / frazy naturalne	"team health condition" → "team's well-being"	2	Wybierać naturalne wyrażenia
8	Interpunkcja / kapitalizacja	"whats time" → "What time"	2	Poprawiać wielkie litery i kropki

Conversation Summary — Grammar AI Feedback

Here's a detailed review of your responses with corrections and explanations:

1. "Hi! Thanks for information. I already contact with our client and changed schedule to next week. I believe it's enough to finish this presentation."

Corrected:

Hi! Thanks for the information. I have already contacted our client and changed the schedule to next week. I believe it will be enough time to finish this presentation.

Notes:

- "Thanks for the information" — need the article.
- "I already contact" → "I have already contacted" (present perfect).
- "changed schedule" → "changed the schedule" (article).
- "I believe it's enough to finish" → "I believe it will be enough time to finish" (future implication and natural phrasing).

2. "The client has been a little upset, but I promise to they, this delay will enable to compare new interesting data, then if keep current presentation day."

Corrected:

The client was a little upset, but I promised them that this delay will allow us to compare some interesting new data, so we can keep the current presentation day.

Notes:

- "promise to they" → "promised them".
- "enable to compare" → "allow us to compare".
- Sentence structure: separate ideas clearly with "so".

3. "Yes, I provide to the design team new sources from the analytics team, they make very impressive progress since last weeks."

Corrected:

Yes, I provided the design team with new sources from the analytics team. They have made very impressive progress since last week.

Notes:

- Past tense: "I provided".
- Preposition: "provide to" → "provided with".
- Present perfect for recent progress: "They have made".
- "last weeks" → "last week" (singular for the recent week).

4. "This team has one member on sick leave, but another two members don't have any another tasks, so I think they should finish in the Tuesday."

Corrected:

This team has one member on sick leave, but the other two members don't have any other tasks, so I think they should finish by Tuesday.

Notes:

- "another two members" → "the other two members".
- "any another tasks" → "any other tasks".
- Preposition for days: "in the Tuesday" → "by Tuesday".

5. "The client asked for informed only about important matters, so if we don't change nothing important, I recommend don't update the client."

Corrected:

The client asked to be informed only about important matters, so if we don't change anything important, I recommend not updating the client.

Notes:

- "asked for informed" → "asked to be informed".
- Double negative: "don't change nothing" → "don't change anything".
- "I recommend don't update" → "I recommend not updating".

6. "I don't know, I didn't see progress from the marketing team, its not my part. I think John is handling this case, where he is?"

Corrected:

I don't know; I haven't seen any progress from the marketing team. It's not my responsibility. I think John is handling this case — where is he?

Notes:

- Present perfect: "I haven't seen" (recent action).
- "its" → "it's".
- "not my part" → "not my responsibility".
- Question word order: "where he is?" → "where is he?".

7. "Yes, you can remind him, but what you know about marketing team? They has any problems in the last time?"

Corrected:

Yes, you can remind him, but what do you know about the marketing team? Have they had any problems recently?

Notes:

- Question auxiliary: "what you know" → "what do you know".
- Subject-verb agreement: "They has" → "They have".
- "in the last time" → "recently".

8. "Maybe, but first ask John about team condition, however he has responsibility of the team health condition."

Corrected:

Maybe, but first ask John about the team's condition, since he is responsible for the team's well-being.

Notes:

- Possessive: "team condition" → "team's condition".
- Natural phrasing: "he has responsibility of" → "he is responsible for".
- "health condition" → "well-being" (more natural in workplace context).

9. "Definitely, whats time do you prefer?"

Corrected:

Definitely. What time do you prefer?

Notes:

- Capitalization and punctuation: "whats" → "What".
- Question structure is now correct.

10. "Fine, 11 a.m. it's ok, i have to go, so see you to next meet."

Corrected:

Fine, 11 a.m. is okay. I have to go, so see you at the next meeting.

Notes:

- "it's ok" → "is okay".
- Capitalization: "i" → "I".
- Preposition: "see you to next meet" → "see you at the next meeting".

💡 Most Common Errors This Session:

- Verb tense (past vs. present perfect)
- Articles ("a," "the")
- Prepositions ("by Tuesday," "at the meeting")
- Subject-verb agreement
- Question structure and word order
- Double negatives